Change Is in the Wind: A Capitol Hill Weather
Forecast for Healthcare Providers

Foretelling the actions of the state legislature can be at least as challenging as predicting Minnesota weather. It is clear, however, that big changes are in the offing during this year's session in St. Paul. Many of those changes are likely to affect hospitals, physician groups, and other health care providers. At this roundtable, GPM attorneys Tom Johnson and Sarah Duniway will lead a discussion about what health-related proposals are likely to come before the legislature in 2009.
