Kara Gray advises clients through the probate process, including executing wills, trusts, health care directives and financial powers of attorney. She works closely with clients to develop an estate plan that achieves their legacy goals and minimizes taxes. Kara also counsels clients through estate and trust administrations.

During law school, Kara served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Gregg E. Johnson and participated in the Uvaldo Herrera Moot Court Competition. She also worked as a Street Law volunteer for the Minnesota Justice Foundation by teaching legal rights and responsibilities to low-income and at-risk youth.

Kara grew up in the Rocky Mountains. When she is not practicing law, she enjoys yoga sculpt, spending time with her family and serving as a student mentor.
