

Alternative Dispute Resolution

We measure our success by the results we get for you. And in many cases getting results means steering clear of litigation.

We are experienced with all forms of alternative dispute resolution including mediation, binding and non-binding arbitration, private negotiation, court-supervised settlement conferences, and mini-trials. Many of our attorneys have extensive training and are included on the Minnesota Supreme Court's roster of ADR attorneys and the American Arbitration Association's panel of arbitrators and mediators, as well as similar professional groups.
