

Human Resources Compliance Breakfast Briefing & Webinar Series: Social Media & Technology Risks

January 08, 2013

Presented by: Gray Plant Mooty's Employment & Labor Practice Group

Please join us for our HR Compliance Breakfast Briefing series on social media & technology risks. The rapid growth and extensive reach of technology and of social media sites like Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube, has forever changed the way people communicate both at and away from work. The use of technology by employees has many advantages, but also comes with risks.

The law related to technology and social media in the workplace is complex and evolving. When addressing the risks associated with technology and social media in the workplace, employers must balance business needs with employees' rights under privacy, discrimination, anti-retaliation, labor, wage and hour, and other laws. Our breakfast briefing will focus on achieving this balance and managing legal risks.

Presenters: Mark Mathison and Megan Anderson
